

Environmental Sustainability

Cox Enterprises and its subsidiaries (“Cox”) are committed to environmental stewardship; we assess our sustainability risks, reduce our environmental impact, embed responsibility into our supply chain, set and advance progress towards our environmental goals, engage and educate employees, and partner with community organizations to support environmental progress more broadly. Cox is committed to operating and maintaining its business in compliance with applicable environmental laws and regulations. Management of our environmental impact is overseen by the ESG Committee of our Board of Directors and company management.
